

SUPER HEROES

Words by Jim Evans
Music by Ray Buntaine

CHORUS:

We were once all su-per her-oes, And saved the world from a ter-ri-ble fate, Fight-ing e-vil, ev-'ry-one knows, With a POW and a WHAM and a sock in the nose. All dressed in cape and mask and boot-ies, And Span-dex tights so fine. We were once all sup-er man's no long-er sup-er, Now he's just a man. It's a dog-gone shame.

Like Ma Bell, he lost his phone booth, There's no way to change. It's a dog-gone shame. No more leap-ing build-ings in a sing-le bound, In fact, with-out his walk-er, he can hard-ly get a-round. Life, it seems, is so hard, with just a Med-i-care and AARP card. Oh, how things have changed?

D.C.

2ND VERSE:

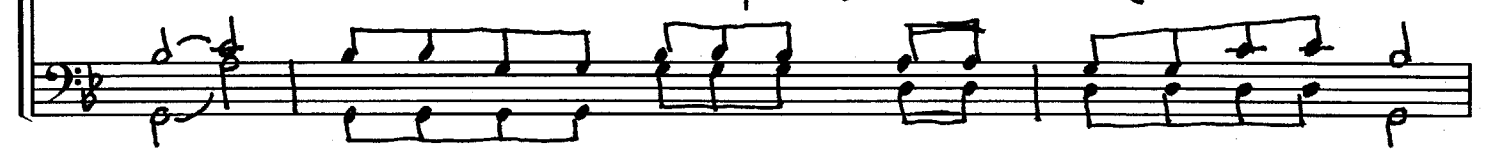

33  34 35

Rid-ing in a Bat-mo-bile, the Du-o's do-ing fine, But no-thing stays the same. Parts that fail can't be re-placed, And we're not just talk-in' car.

36  37 38

39  40 41

Fath-er Time's to blame. Like their fam-ous au-to, they've both run out of gas. They took it thru' in-spec-tion, all three failed to pass. Now they do the best they can, Rid-ing in a Med-i-van

42  43 44

45  46

3RD VERSE:

47 Oh, how times have changed? 48 D.C. 49 Cap-tain Mar-vel, Spi-der-man,

50 Bud-dy, you and I fared a-bout the same, 51 Lit-tle old-er, lit-tle 52 53

54 wis-er's the best that we can claim. It's a dog-gone shame? 55 56

57 This old world's a-bout the same, We have-n't changed it yet. But 58

59 hang in there, keep try-ing, you'll have no-thing to re-gret. If you don't give 60 61 up, Joe, You'll be a sup-er her-o. Oh, how times have changed?

LAST CHORUS:

But the world still needs its her-oes To tri-umph o-ver wrong. And if you can be that her-o, You'll be re-mem-bered in sto-ry and song, and song.

TRG:

and song.

Fam-ous in sto-ry Fam-ous in song?
